Justices Mansoor Ali Shah And Athar Minallah Resign From Supreme Court After 27th Amendment

ISLAMABAD: Senior puisne judge Mansoor Ali Shah and Supreme Court (SC) Justice Athar Minallah have tendered their resignations from their posts on Thursday.

Both the judges have forwarded their resignations — copies of which are available with Geo News — to President Asif Ali Zardari following the enactment of the much-touted 27th Constitutional Amendment.

The development came after the Senate approved the amendment bill following changes approved by the National Assembly a day earlier, amid noisy protests by the opposition.

Federal Minister for Law Azam Nazeer Tarar presented the constitutional amendment bill today, with the tweaks to the draft earlier approved by the upper house. The amendment bill received 64 votes (two-thirds majority in the 96-member House) in favour and four against.

The much-touted bill was initially presented in the upper house of parliament on Monday and got a nod on the same day. It was then referred to the NA, which approved it with some amendments. Therefore, the legislation was again presented in the Senate today to approve the latest changes.

In his 13-page-long resignation, Justice Shah termed the amendment as "a grave assault on the Constitution of Pakistan", which "dismantles the Supreme Court of Pakistan, subjugates the judiciary to executive control, and strikes at the very heart of our constitutional democracy".

"By fracturing the unity of the nation's apex court, it has crippled judicial independence and integrity, pushing the country back by decades," he wrote. "As history bears witness, such a disfigurement of the constitutional order is unsustainable and will, in time, be reversed — but not before leaving deep institutional scars." —RT/Agency

Justice Aminuddin Khan Named First Chief Justice Of Newly Formed Constitutional Court

ISLAMABAD: President Asif Ali Zardari has approved the appointment of Justice Aminuddin Khan as the first Chief Justice of the newly-established Federal Constitutional Court (FCC).

President Zardari approved the appointment of Justice Aminuddin on the advice of Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif, read a statement issued on Thursday, hours after he gave his assent to the 27th Constitutional Amendment.

A notification from the law ministry said President Zardari made the appointment under clause (3) of Article 175-A, read with Article 175-C of the Constitution. It added that it would come into effect from the date that Justice Khan took his oath.

Justice Khan, whose legal practice started around four decades back, was previously serving as the head of the now-dissolved constitutional bench, which was formed as a result of the 26th Constitu-

Supreme Court will be transferred to the new court.

A crucial power of the Supreme Court, taking suo motu notices, has also been transferred to the FCC, which has been empowered to take suo motu notice upon petitions.

When the Bill to establish the court was passed in the National Assembly, Pakistan Peoples Party Chairman Bilawal Bhutto-Zardari mentioned that the judiciary will no longer have the authority to take suo motu actions, noting that the PPP and PML-N had faced "consequences" of suo motu powers.

Chief Justice Yahya Afridi, who was sworn to the coveted post on October 30, 2024, still remains the top judge; however, once his tenure ends after the stipulated three years, the senior-most judge from amongst the SC and FCC judges will become the top judge.

The judicial overhaul, part of the latest amendments, not only paved the way for dissolving the Constitutional Benches but also, through the Supreme Court Practice and Procedure (Amendment) Bill 2025, transferred the authority to constitute case-hearing benches to a three-member committee headed by the Chief Justice. —RT/Agency

Rana Sanaullah Downplays Lifetime Immunity For President, Calls It 'Not A Major Concern'

ISLAMABAD: Prime Minister's Adviser Rana Sanaullah has described the lifetime immunity granted to the President as a minor issue and said it should not be regarded as controversial. Speaking to a private television channel, he explained that, like the Prime Minister, the President could have publicly announced that he did not require lifetime immunity. "However, if the President expressed a wish or intention to receive it, it was understood that the immunity should be granted," he added.

Rana Sanaullah stressed that the President is largely a symbol of the federation and does not hold executive powers, as all official functions are carried out based on the Prime Minister's advice. He clarified that the lifetime immunity does not provide any additional authority or influencing beyond the ceremonial role of the office.

The adviser further explained that the provision for lifetime immunity was agreed upon because the President is not seeking another term in office. "This is a standard procedure and is consistent with practices in other democracies where outgoing heads of state are often accorded certain privileges for life," he said.

Rana Sanaullah's remarks come amid public debate over the constitutional and political implications of granting immunity to former officeholders.

He emphasized that the matter is procedural and should not be politicized, underlining that it does not undermine the powers of elected institutions or the rule of law. —RT/Agency

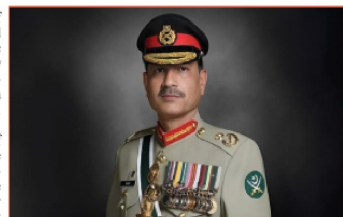

COAS Asim Munir's Tenure Resets As He Assumes Role Of Chief Of Defence Forces

ISLAMABAD: Chief of Army Staff (COAS) Field Marshal Asim Munir's tenure will restart following his new appointment as Chief of Defence Forces (CDF), read a bill moved in the National Assembly on Thursday.

Speaking on the floor of the House after Defence Minister Khawaja Asif presented the bill to amend the Army Act, Law Minister Azam Nazeer Tarar said that the CDF's term would be five years from the date of his appointment.

He made the remarks during the NA session that passed the bills amending the Army, Navy, and Air Force Acts after the cabinet's endorsement.

The bill mentions that the Chief of the Army Staff, concurrently the Chief of the Defence Forces under Article 243 of the Constitution, "the tenure under this section shall commence from the date of notification of the said office".

The amendment means that once the notification of the first appointment of the Chief of the Army Staff and the Chief of the Defence Forces is issued, the existing tenure of the incumbent COAS shall be deemed to have recommenced from the date of this notification.

Moreover, the government will determine the duties, functions, and responsibilities of the COAS and CDF, including but not limited to his functions and responsibilities regarding multi-domain integration, necessary restructuring, and optimum jointness of the Armed Forces.

The bill further mentions that the prime minister will appoint the Commander of the National Strategic Command, from among the Generals in the Pakistan Army, for a tenure of three years on the COAS/CDF recommendation. The terms and conditions of the Commander of the National Strategic Command shall also be determined by the prime minister, the bill mentions. —RT/Agency

Cadet College Wana Attack: Mastermind And Afghan Facilitators Identified By Security Forces

WANA: Key details have emerged regarding the masterminds and facilitators behind the deadly attack on Cadet College Wana. According to media, all the terrorists involved in the assault were Afghan nationals, and the entire plan was conceived and directed from Afghanistan. Reports revealed that the final order to execute the attack was issued by a foreign commander, while another foreign operative planned the operation. The terrorists were acting strictly on instructions received from across the border. Following the directives of the foreign handler, responsibility for the attack was later claimed under the banner of a banned organization.

Sources further disclosed that all weapons and materials used in the assault were supplied from Afghanistan, including U.S.-manufactured arms and equipment. Intelligence agencies are continuing investigations to trace the cross-border network involved in orchestrating the attack and to identify any local facilitators who may have assisted the assailants.

The revelations have once again raised concerns over cross-border terrorism and the use of Afghan soil for launching attacks inside Pakistan. —RT/Agency

Ishaq Dar Hails PTI And JUI-F Defectors' Votes As 'Voice Of Conscience'

ISLAMABAD: Deputy Prime Minister (DPM) Senator Ishaq Dar on Thursday defended the votes of two opposition members who supported the 27th Constitutional Amendment Bill, saying that he believes "voting against the party line is, in fact, following the voice of conscience, instead of defection."

The Senate has once again passed the 27th Constitutional Amendment Bill with a majority of 64 votes, with the changes approved by the National Assembly a day earlier, amid noisy protest by the opposition.

The government's legislation once again secured support from PTI's Saifullah

Abro, who had also voted in favour of the amendment earlier this week.

The PTI and JUI-F, however, objected to their participation, arguing that both had either resigned or were liable to disqualification under Article 63-

A for voting against party lines.

PTI Senator Ali Zafar, during the Senate debate, said that the defectors had announced their resignations on the floor of the House and that their votes should therefore not be counted. —RT/Agency

Kabul-Backed TTP Behind Series Of Terror Attacks In Pakistan, Reveals Asif

ISLAMABAD: Defence Minister Khawaja Asif said on Thursday that the Tehreek-e-Taliban Pakistan (TTP), with support from elements inside Afghanistan and India, was responsible for recent terrorist attacks in Pakistan.

He made these remarks while talking to the media at Parliament House where he mentioned that Islamabad had been warning for months that the TTP could not carry out incidents of this scale without the 'support' of the Kabul government.

The minister highlighted investigators had found Afghan nationals among those involved in an earlier attack. "The identities of Afghan nationals have been established," he added. "The evidence is now before the whole world to see and the onus of action now falls on Kabul."

Asif accused Afghanistan of providing material support for terrorism and said India was also backing those efforts "so that peace cannot be established in Pakistan."

Defending the state's response, the defence minister said Pakistan had already prevailed in past conflicts and would defeat terrorism similarly.

"We have won the war against the enemy, and we will win the war against terrorism as well," he said, adding a stark warning to militants. —RT/Agency

Turkiye Slams Indian Media Over False Claims Linking It To Delhi Blast

Turkiye on Thursday refuted claims made by Indian media outlets claiming that Ankara had a link to the car blast in Delhi earlier this week.

A day prior, the Indian government confirmed that it was treating a car blast that killed 12 people and wounded at least 20 others in Delhi as a "terror incident" and vowed to bring the perpetrators to justice as swiftly as possible.

In a statement, Türkiye's Directorate of Communications rejected the allegations and displayed screenshots of social media posts by two Indian outlets, which claimed Ankara had a "role in radicalising sleeper cells against India, [the] Turkish government is providing logistical, diplomatic and financial help to all terrorist groups across the world."

"The deliberate reports in certain Indian media outlets... are part of a malicious disinformation campaign aimed at damaging bilateral relations between the two countries," Ankara's statement read. Türkiye rejected acts of terror "regardless of where or by whom they are committed" and noted its contributions to counter-terrorism frameworks by the United Nations and Nato.

"The claim that Türkiye engages in 'radicalisation activities' targeting India or any other country is purely disinformative and lacks any factual basis," the statement added. "Such unfounded and manipulative reports targeting Türkiye are attempts to undermine our country's contributions to international peace, security, and stability." —RT/Agency

A Silent Earthquake in the Judiciary: Two Men Who Chose Principle Over Power

In an era when personal gain often triumphs over moral conviction, the resignations of Supreme Court Justices Mansoor Ali Shah and Athar Minallah stand as rare acts of courage and integrity. Their decision to step down in protest against the controversial 27th Constitutional Amendment — which effectively strips the Supreme Court of its independence — is nothing short of historic. In a nation where principles are routinely sacrificed at the altar of expediency, these two men have reminded us that conscience still has a place in public life.

Justice Shah's powerful declaration that he "cannot protect the Constitution, nor even judicially examine the amendment that has disfigured it" lays bare the depth of this crisis. Similarly, Justice Minallah's mournful lament that the Constitution he swore to uphold "is no more" captures the collective despair of a nation witnessing its democratic institutions hollowed out before its eyes.

Their resignations are not acts of rebellion — they are acts of faith in a higher ideal: the rule of law. Regardless of where one stands on the 27th Amendment, these judges must be respected for their unwavering adherence to principle in a country where such virtue has all but vanished.

Yet, their departure leaves behind a haunting question — what now? With the judiciary's autonomy dismantled and a "toothless" Supreme Court emerging in its place, Pakistan's fragile democracy stands at a perilous crossroads. The days ahead will test not only the strength of civil society and the legal fraternity, but also the nation's ability to resist the slow suffocation of its constitutional soul.

Justice Shah and Justice Minallah may have resigned — but in doing so, they may just have reignited the last embers of judicial conscience in Pakistan.

Pakistan Penalized 20% Match Fee for Slow Over Rate Against Sri Lanka

The International Cricket Council (ICC) has imposed a fine on the Pakistan cricket team for maintaining a slow over rate during their recent match against Sri Lanka.

According to the ICC, Pakistan failed to bowl the required number of overs within the stipulated time, leading to a penalty of 20% of the players' match fees.

Pakistan captain Shaheen Shah Afridi has acknowledged the ICC's decision and accepted the fine without protest.

He emphasized that the team is committed to improving its pace in future matches and ensuring that such lapses do not occur again.

World Test Champions Brace for Their Toughest Battle Yet in India

The variety of conditions Test cricket offers is evident from how the format's world champions, South Africa, have not been able to even compete in their previous seven Tests in India, the country of their next challenge. They lost six of those Tests comprehensively, and were on their way in the seventh but for the rain.

Even within India, South Africa have struggled in a variety of conditions. In 2015-16, they were outdone by a young side for whom the team management considered raging turners a necessity. Then, in 2019-20, against an established home team, South Africa were blanked by huge margins on good batting surfaces that had nothing for the home spinners, who averaged 27.18 compared to their fast bowlers' 17.50.

The world champions make this trip in 2025-26 not with any significant new faces in their attack but with more experience, and thus more equipped to compete during what has to be South Africa's toughest tour. Keshav Maharaj was their lead spinner on the previous tour too. Simon Harmer toured in 2015-16. Senuran Muthusamy played two Tests in 2019-20. Kagiso Rabada remains the banker fast bowler.—Agency

Wood Undergoes Scan After Hamstring Scare in Ashes Warm-Up

England have received a major injury scare ahead of the Ashes after quick Mark Wood experienced stiffness in his left hamstring during their only warm-up match in Perth.

Wood had bowled two four-over spells against the Lions at Lilac Hill in his first competitive match in nine months since surgery on his left knee. He left the field after his second four-over spell midway through the second session.

"The plan for Mark Wood was for him to bowl eight overs today," an ECB statement said. "He has some stiffness in his hamstring, which has kept him off the field again in two days' time. It is unlikely he will return to the field today."

England have taken a cautious approach with Wood's rehabilitation from the knee injury that he sustained at the Champions Trophy in February. He had initially hoped to feature in the final Test of their summer series against India, but a setback in training ended up ruling him out of the entire home season.—Agency

Green Rediscovered Form as Ashes Warm-Up Turns Into Fierce Contest

Queensland 390 and 187 for 8 (Clayton 54, Renshaw 51, Rocchiccioli 4-41) lead Western Australia 322 for 7 (Green 94, Bancroft 76, Hardie 55*) by 255 runs

He fell in the nervous 90s, but Cameron Green gave his Ashes hopes an almighty boost with a determined knock during Western Australia's Sheffield Shield clash with Queensland at the WACA Ground.

In reply to Queensland's 390, WA started day three at a somewhat shaky 210 for 5 but with Green unbeaten on 49 and holding the key.

Green, having been deputy to head coach Ricky Ponting at Delhi Capitals in IPL 2022 and 2023. He recently left his position as head coach of San Francisco Unicorns in the MLC, where he had worked for three seasons. Shane Watson Joins Kolkata Knight Riders' Coaching Ranks as Assistant Former Australia allrounder Shane Watson has been appointed assistant coach of Kolkata Knight Riders (KKR) ahead of the IPL 2026 season, joining a team management that includes Abhishek Nayar (head coach) and Dwayne Bravo (mentor).

Watson and former New Zealand fast bowler Tim Southee are new additions to the KKR coaching staff, which has been overhauled after the team finished seventh in IPL 2025. Southee has been juggling playing commitments with a consultant role with England over the past six months.

"It's a great honour to be part of a franchise as iconic as Kolkata Knight Riders," Watson said in a statement issued by KKR. "I've always admired the passion of KKR fans and the team's commitment to excellence. I'm eager to work closely with the coaching group and players to help bring another title to Kolkata."

KKR is Watson's second assignment as a coach in the IPL, having been deputy to head coach Ricky Ponting at Delhi Capitals in IPL 2022 and 2023. He recently left his position as head coach of San Francisco Unicorns in the MLC, where he had worked for three seasons. Shanto and Mahmudul's Centuries Put Bangladesh Firmly in Control

Ireland 286 and 86 for 5 (McBrine 4*, Humphreys 0*, Murad 2-8) trail Bangladesh 587 for 8 dec (Mahmudul 171, Shanto 100, Humphreys 5-170) by 215 runs

Bangladesh are on course to take a 1-0 lead against Ireland after the third day of the Sylhet Test. The visitors ended the day on 86 for 5, trailing the home side by 215 runs after Bangladesh declared for 587 for 7. Najmul Hossain Shanto's eighth century helped with the big score, while Litton Das' 66-ball 60 added pace to their effort.

Ireland however couldn't reply in kind. Nahid Rana struck the first blow in the fourth over when he cleaned up Cade Carmichael for five. It was a thundering inswinger that Carmichael couldn't keep raced towards a second fifty in the match. However, a bit of tardy thinking cost him dearly. After Litton Das missed a stumping off Tajul Islam, Stirling's attempt for a single was ill-timed. He couldn't turn back in time, as he was caught an inch short of the crease, falling for 43 off 59 balls. Tector followed him back swiftly, lbw to Tajul for 18, before Shadman Islam took a brilliant catch at cover to get rid of Curtis Campher towards the end of the day. Murad took this wicket, before also trapping Lorcan Tucker lbw for 9.—Agency

LSG to Trade All-Rounder Shardul Thakur to Mumbai Indians in Major Move

India allrounder Shardul Thakur is set to join Mumbai Indians (MI) for IPL 2026.

Media has learned that MI have reached an in-principle agreement with Lucknow Super Giants (LSG) to get Thakur via an all-cash trade deal. It is understood both franchises have sent an expression of interest to the IPL, which will ratify the trade once the necessary process is completed.

The development means Thakur is on the verge of becoming a quiz question as this is the third trade involving him in the IPL - in 2017, Rising Pune Supergiant bought him from Kings XI Punjab (now Punjab Kings), and before the 2023 season Kolkata Knight Riders procured him from Delhi Capitals.

Both those trades were also all-cash deals.

Thakur, who had gone unsold at the 2025 mega auction and was to join Essex in the County Championship, was picked by LSG as a replacement for Mohsin Khan at his base price of INR 2 crore. It seemed like a good investment on the part of LSG's mentor at the time, Zaheer Khan, as he took six wickets in his first two matches in IPL 2025. Thakur, however, struggled after that, playing only ten matches and taking 13 wickets with an economy rate of 11.02.

The move to MI is a homecoming of sorts for Thakur. He was a support bowler for MI from 2010-12 and was also appointed Mumbai captain in domestic cricket.—Agency

Nottinghamshire Secure Fergus O'Neill with Two-Year Deal Through 2027

Nottinghamshire have confirmed the return of Australia A seamer Fergus O'Neill for the first half of both the 2026 and 2027 seasons.

O'Neill claimed 21 wickets at 17.90 in four matches at the start of the 2025 season, helping set Nottinghamshire on their path to winning the County Championship. He had been expected to make a return and the club have now announced that he has signed a two-year deal.

While O'Neill was only eligible for a short-term visa last season, limiting him to a four-week stint, changes to the UK's visa rules to cover appearances in first-class cricket mean he will be available for the first block of Championship games from April through to June.

It was O'Neill who purchased the "MOM" blazer that became a feature of Notts' title win, and he will now be back to help with the defence. "I'm keen to come back and make sure our momentum keeps rolling," O'Neill said. "Trent Bridge is a great place filled with great people, where I've had success."

"With all the success I had, and we had as a team, it was a simple decision for me to sign on for not just one, but another two years. Success is what I play for, so for as long as I'm part of Nottinghamshire, I'll be putting my best foot forward for us to win another Championship title."

O'Neill has twice been picked for Australia A, including on their recent tour of India, and has started the Sheffield Shield season in good form, with 15 wickets at 21.80. He could come into contention for the Ashes, although is currently being held the likes of Brendan Doggett and Michael Nott's title win, and he will now be back to help with

Kylie Jenner Helps Khloe Kardashian Rebuild Confidence After Tristan Thompson Betrayal

Khloe Kardashian revealed that her youngest sister, Kylie Jenner, helped her get over her ex Tristan Thompson's infidelity.

During the latest episode of her podcast, Khloe in Wonderland, the 41-year-old reality star got candid about how her sister supported her when news broke that her ex, Tristan, had fathered a child with fitness model Maralee Nichols.

"Kylie is really one of the main reasons why I felt so safe and comfortable having Tristan," admitted Khloe, who shares two kids with ex Tristan, daughter True, 7, and son Tatum, 3.

Blake Lively Signals Possible Reconciliation with Taylor Swift Through Surprise Gesture

Taylor Swift and Blake Lively's feud started after the singer was dragged into the Gossip Girl actor's legal battle with Justin Baldoni.

In her lawsuit, Lively accused her It Ends With Us co-star Baldoni of sexual harassment and waging a smear campaign against her.

When Baldoni launched a countersuit against Lively, his legal team made allegations that thrust Swift into the spotlight.

Lively was accused by Baldoni's lawyers of having inappropriately leveraged her friendship with Swift during the production of It Ends With Us. Swift was initially subpoenaed in the case, though Baldoni's team later withdrew this request.

Citing unnamed sources, People.com reported in June that "Swift and Lively aren't as close and haven't been spending as much time together as they did in the past."

An insider told the media outlet earlier this year that "Taylor is working to trust Blake again but it's going to take some time."

Amid tabloid reports that Taylor Lively won't invite Blake Swift to her wedding, something unexpected has happened.

She Rides, She Fights – The Daily Struggles of Sindh's Fearless Scooty Girls

By Suman Nawaz

Business Student: Grady Institute of Business & Technology
E.B.Area- Karachi

The Government of Sindh has taken a bold and progressive step by announcing the distribution of scooters to working women and female students. This initiative is more than just transportation support; it is a symbol of independence, dignity, and confidence for the women of our province. In a society where mobility is often a barrier for females, this project is truly a game changer. It opens opportunities for education, employment, and participation in public life. A girl who moves freely is a girl who thinks freely and the Sindh Government deserves appreciation for understanding this need.

empowerment is not always smooth. Every day, young women on scooters face challenges in our traffic-packed streets. At busy intersections, loud horns, impatient drivers, and reckless rickshaws can shake their confidence. Some girls hesitate to use proper brakes and try to stop the scooter with their feet, which is unsafe and can cause imbalance. Many new riders become nervous while taking U-turns or merging into fast lanes. Sometimes boys start taunting or teasing on roads affecting their concentration. Even a small mistake can give them fear but despite all this, they continue to ride.

The government can also encourage traffic police to assist new women riders near busy roads, especially during peak hours. Still, the courage of these girls is remarkable. Every time a girl rides a scooter to work or university, she breaks a barrier. She proves that mobility belongs to her as much as anyone else. She rides, she fights, and she inspires others to rise above fear and this is how real change begins.

Today, the image of a girl confidently riding through Karachi streets is a strong message to society. It tells every girl sitting at home that opportunity is not far she just needs confidence, support, and belief in herself. With such steps, Sindh is shaping a future where women are not only educated and employed they are mobile, visible, and un-

President Zardari Signs 27th Constitutional Amendment Into Law After Parliament's Nod

ISLAMABAD: President Asif Ali Zardari on Thursday gave assent to the much-debated 27th Constitutional Amendment after approval from the Parliament.

With the president's signature, the amendment has now officially become part of the Constitution.

"The Constitution (Twenty-Seventh Amendment) Bill, 2025 is assented to, as advised by the Prime Minister [Shehbaz Sharif], at Para-5 of the Summary," read a notification issued by the President's House.

The development came moments after the Senate approved the amendment bill following changes approved by the National Assembly a day earlier, amid noisy protests by the opposition.

Senate Chairman Yousuf Raza Gilani announced the result, saying, "So the motion is carried by the votes of not less than two-thirds of the total membership of the Senate, and consequently, the bill stands passed."

The much-touted bill was initially presented in the upper house of parliament on Monday and got a nod on the same day. It was then referred to the NA, which approved it with some amendments. Therefore, the legislation was again presented in the Senate today to approve the latest changes.

New tweaks
A day earlier, the National Assembly passed the amendment bill that seeks to change the judicial structure and military command, with 234 votes in favour and four against amid the opposition's walkout. It included eight amendments — not part of the Senate-approved previous version — aimed at clarifying the chief justice's position.

The amended bill fine-tunes the structure of the newly established Federal Constitutional Court (FCC), clarifies the titles and ranking of the country's top judges, and drops several clauses from the Senate-approved draft that had sought to alter oath-related provisions for various constitutional offices.

One of the most significant updates relates to Clause 2, which modifies Article 6(2A) of the Constitution — the article concerning high treason.

The National Assembly's version adds the term "Federal Constitutional Court" after "the", thereby explicitly including the new court within the ambit of Article 6. The earlier Senate draft had not mentioned the court by name.—RT/Agency

Senate Passes 27th Amendment Bill Again After NA Approves Revisions

ISLAMABAD: The Senate on Thursday approved the 27th Constitutional Amendment Bill, following changes approved by the National Assembly a day earlier, amid noisy protest by the opposition who termed the legislation as "destruction of constitution".

Federal Minister for Law Azam Nazeer Tarar presented the constitutional amendment bill again today, with the tweaks to the draft earlier approved by the upper house. The amendment bill received the 64 votes (two-thirds majority in the 96-member House) in favour and four against.

As the session kicked off with Senate Chairman Yousuf Raza Gilani presiding, Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf

(PTI) Senator Ali Zafar maintained that his party and Jamiat Ulema-e-Islam-Fazl (JUIF) defectors are disqualified under Article 63-A of the Constitution as they, in the previous session voted against the party line.

It may be noted that the government's legislation secured votes from two opposition lawmakers, PTI's Saifulah Abro and JUI-F's Ahmad Khan, when the bill was voted upon in the Senate for the first time and again today. "If they have indeed resigned and the article applies, I request that the votes of these two members not be counted [during the re-voting]. Otherwise, we will challenge the entire process," he added.—RT/Agency

IMF Executive Board To Approve $1.2 Billion For Pakistan On December 8

ISLAMABAD: The International Monetary Fund (IMF) has scheduled an Executive Board meeting for December 8 to approve the disbursement of $1.2 billion to Pakistan under two concurrent programmes, with funds expected to land on December 9.

The tranche comprises $1 billion under the $7 billion Extended Fund Facility (EFF) and $200 million under the $1.4 billion Resilience and Sustainability Fund (RSF). The release follows a Staff-Level Agreement (SLA) reached on October 14 covering the EFF's second review and the RSF's first review. Upon approval, total disbursements under the two arrangements will rise to about $3.3 billion.

An IMF team led by Iva Petrova held discussions in Karachi and Islamabad from September 24 to October 8, and in Washington, DC, to conclude the SLA.

The Fund cited strong programme implementation and priorities that include sustaining the fiscal effort while supporting flood-affected households, keeping inflation durable within the State Bank of Pakistan's target range, restoring the energy sector's viability, and advancing structural reforms.

The IMF also said the RSF-backed climate agenda is progressing, noting that recent floods highlight the need for consistent, comprehensive reforms to reduce climate risk.

GCD report and reform asks

Ahead of the Board meeting, the IMF is pressing Pakistan to publish, and act on its Governance and Corruption Diagnostic (GCD) report.

Recommendations include making the Special Investment Facilitation Council fully transparent, creating a central registry of state-owned land and holding entities, conducting performance assessments of judges, publishing asset declarations of bureaucrats, and removing the Finance Secretary from the State Bank of Pakistan's (SBP) board.—RT/Agency

Dar Demands In-Camera Briefing On Surge In Terror Attacks

ISLAMABAD: Interior Minister Mohsin Naqvi revealed in the Senate and while speaking to the media outside Parliament House on Thursday that both the Wana Cadet College suicide attack and the Islamabad Judicial Complex blast were carried out by Afghan nationals.

The disclosure sparked urgent calls from Deputy Prime Minister Ishaq Dar for a comprehensive, in-camera briefing on Pakistan's deteriorating security situation.

Naqvi said the suicide bomber involved in the Wana Cadet College attack was Afghan, confirming that "the suicide bomber in the Wana Cadet College attack is also from Afghanistan."

He added that the attacker who targeted the Islamabad Judicial Complex was similarly identified as an Afghan citizen.

"The suicide bomber was from Afghanistan," he confirmed, adding that media had earlier reported the same.

Justice Panhwar Writes To CJP Afridi, Voices Serious Concerns Over 27th Amendment

ISLAMABAD: Another Supreme Court Judge Justice Salahuddin Panhwar has written a letter to Chief Justice of Pakistan Justice Yahya Afridi for deliberating the 27th constitutional amendment, stating that there comes a time when silence is not caution but abdication.

In his letter, Justice Panhwar expressed deep concern over the potential impact of the amendment on judicial independence.

"There comes a time when silence is not caution but abdication. I believe such a time may now be upon us," he wrote.

Justice Panhwar noted that the 27th Amendment "appears to touch the very foundations upon which the edifice of our judiciary rests."

"It speaks of changes that may bring the executive and legislature into areas long reserved for judicial independence," he cautioned.

Emphasizing the sanctity of an independent judiciary, Justice Panhwar stated that judicial independence "is not a matter of privilege; it is the very condition upon which liberty itself depends."

"If the judiciary is not free from fear, influence, or control, then the rule of law becomes but a phrase—hollow and without breath," he warned.

Referring to the Constitution, he reminded that judicial independence is not merely symbolic.

"Our Constitution has declared this independence. These are not ornamental words — they are living guarantees for a people who have suffered too long under arbitrary power," he wrote.

Justice Panhwar expressed concern that the proposed amendment could unsettle the delicate balance of powers envisioned by the framers of the Constitution.—RT/Agency

Senate Chairman Clarifies No Resignation Letters Received From Any Members

ISLAMABAD: Chairman Senate Yousaf Raza Gillani Thursday said that he didn't receive any resignation from a member of the house after an opposition Senator alleged him of encouraging floor crossing.

amendment.
